God has created this world with a defined meaning and an ultimate purpose for human worth living. Our existence is of great impact in protecting, loving and saving our world, the earth but what is happening now to our mother earth?

The world has changed rapidly and beyond recognition in the past decade has been transformed and reformatted. This has contributed to a negative effect on earth due to human activities. We are now experiencing global warming, climate change, tremendous pollution which slowly kills the existing matters on earth. What should we do? Can we still solve this conflict?

Yes we can do something which the earth needs. It all entails our love and unity that will respond activity. We have to always practice the good conduct in our daily activities. Don't throw garbage anywhere, not to cut trees, borne in the mind the reuse, recycle and reduce of even simple things. Don't throw garbage in the river, separate biodegradable and non-biodegradable, save energy and should really have the big sins in preserving and not destroying our natural resources.

We should solve this problem by sensitizing and enlarging our knowledge in saving this world. Together we effectively bring back the bountiful creation of God, the earth.
