

Human Rights

Nuyma A. Hassan
Bachelor of Science in Nursing
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

Every individual had their rights. We are born in the world having our own unique characteristics that differentiate us from one another. Each individual do not deserve to be abused, whether it is physical or emotional aspects of life. We have the right to voice out, to express our emotions and to share our opinions. Since we are living in a democratic country, we have our freedom to voice out what we feel.

However, here in the Philippines, human rights is not equally shared to some people particularly among the poor. They have been abused and were not given the opportunity to practice their rights.