

Human Rights:
Respect for Human Rights and World Peace

Shermajane T. Tapsirul
Bachelor of Science in Nursing
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

Human rights are those that humans should know. All of us have the same human rights. It depends on how we use or follow it. Whatever our personality, nationality, sex or attitude- we are all the same and we are free to follow for us to live well, happily and quietly. This policy is good for us human beings. Once we have followed the human rights correctly, we will live peacefully and happily.

All of us should respect human rights of every person in the society because we all have the right to follow the human rights and nobody can stop us. All of us the same rights and we should respect each other for us to live quietly and happily. If you respect the rights of others then others will do the same to you.

World peace is a freedom and happiness among all nations. So it is very important that our world to have peace. In so doing, we must love our country and respect each other. We are also to follow the policies for it is us who can make our world at peace.