World peace is a dream of each individual human race, even to the very invisible bacteria needs peace. The person dictates whether the world needs peace. Every individual can share a piece of peace to the world. It's started within our self. It is our choice of giving peace to the world. First peace. This war placed in our hearth and enriched by the good deeds that we made. In that care before and foremost in every good deed that we shared, we give peace to the world. World peace in key to happiness.
