

Human Rights

Shermalyn J. Samsaraji
Bachelor of Science in Nursing
School of Allied and Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga

Human right is universal no matter the race, religion, ethnicity, nationality, age, sex, political benefits, intelligence, disability, sexual orientation or gender identity. We have the basic right to freedom of speech, assembly and the freedom to do what a person desires. It also entails possessing our own property, get protection from the law, the right to live and exist, freedom of speech, security and safe from any violence. We also the right to marriage and happiness.