If one tries to look up the meaning of the word world peace, chances are it will say something about tranquility and non violence. If you searched for a synonym, it will say it is a truce.

A truce in my mind is an agreement to stop fighting. If you are to achieve world peace, we must make a difference. Peace begins with a smile that can lighten a room, so imagine a world of smiles can do.

World peace is possible but almost impossible to create a new world with new human being that they would never fight and live as a family, in a place in harmony and finally find the dream of peacefulness.
