

THE RIGHTS OF PERSON TO COMMUNICATE

Student
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

All people have the right to communicate to other person and to the communication we able to communicate our family and friends. I as a person I can automatically say that I have a freedom to communicate to my family and friends. It simply because communication is important in our lives, for instance my father was in manila even though he was in the place I can contact him to this rights of person to communicate.

This is very useful nowadays like for example at the past we use a letter to communicate our family and friends but now we have high-tech for instance the internet through this we can able to email our family even though he/she in the other country. This is the importance of having the right to communicate.