It is a kind of abuse where in our government employee or police- military who commit a wrongful act, where the police or military officers use their power or profession in abusing a person maybe they engage in liquor or drug or in anger. It is difficult to control or prevent an abuse. Because the person involve has a profession and they use their power to abuse the innocent person. The police- military can easily commit that kind of act like kicking a person, they give punches and others they put inside the sack and then they hang it. But many of our police or military officer they tie up it the bed room then locked the door so that the abuse person cannot get out the room without the key to open the door. Here in the Philippines we encounter the police- military officers are corrupt it is not good to hear that our government employee or the police- military officers are corrupt to the people in the community because it is a kind of abuse where in they get share from the person who commit an offense in a public like in traffic the police officer are looking for vehicle to pursue pretending that the driver of a vehicles did not follow the rules and regulation in a traffic, so they ask for money to the drivers so that it will not confiscate the vehicle and brought to the LTO. In this example they abuse the right of a person without any violation that they made.
