The parents have the authority to discipline their children yet they have the right to do it on their own ways but too much discipline on the way of hurting their children physically can be considered to be an abuse.

One of the issues our nation faces is on the case of abusing children. Many Filipino families are doing such case now a day.

Some of the issues that were headlined on late days was the case wherein there was a particular family which the father used to hurt and almost killed his son every time he was disobeyed, another one was the boy accordingly his parents always tasked him to seek for food to them knowing behind that his parents were just helpless and only depends on him and the worst of all, this usually happens wherein the father used to sex his own daughter at the young age and having a threat of killing his daughter if she would attempt to report to somebody what her father did to her.

We know that our youth today are the hope of our nation. So, why abuse them at their early age.
