The purpose of education is to provide an individual with knowledge, skills, competence or usually, desirable qualities of behavior and character to give him fit for the duties of life. Every man has a right to educate. But it is not just the right to educate but the right to equality education at all levels – elementary, high school and college, both public and private.

The state should encourage rather than hinder the operation of private and public schools so long as these schools meet the secular education requirements which the government has the authority to impose. Government shall provide free elementary and high school education, and then we are sure that our future generations will provide intelligent and civic-minded citizens.
