

Human rights
CHILDREN RIGHTS FOR PROTECTION

Student
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

As a child we have our right to be protected by our parents in our young age, protect us from abuse, neglect, exploitation and discrimination. Because as we see to our environment other parents are not giving more attention to their children that's why it's being abuses by others, and because of that laboring of the children are being started, instead of playing and going to school, they are walking on the street and selling different items, such as news paper, junk items, and most especially cigarettes. That's why they are more prone into addiction and other vices which are not to be doing especially to those young children. And as a youth I am hoping that someday somehow, government is not innocent about that situation and hoping also that they will do something to solve those problems.