

“Human Rights”

Tari, Hja, Ferhana M.
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City

The world of this generation is experiencing chaos, killing and even racial discrimination. People live in their own, there is not concern of other people. Some live with power can be their slaves and treated with no mercy rich and influencing people can get what ever they wanted, the rich become richer and the poor become poorer. As the years passes people with mercy and has a good hearth realizes the cruelty and selflessness of those who are in power, and so, they decided to make law that gives equality and justice to each and everyone.

Human rights has been made and passed to the congress and so the congress approved the law that makes people to live freely and willingly. Human Rights has a different distinction consist of: the right to live and the right for education, these two rights are one of the basic and essential that the people and government must observe and comply with human rights gives us protection from the cruelty and other people with these rights they can't easily hurt us and even kill-us people must treat with justice.