People are the one destroying the environment, so people also who can save the environment if they know on how to care it. In speaking on saving the environment it must be practicing by us individually and late it must be share to others. We can start by throwing our garbage properly, it must be separated from biodegradable and non biodegradable. Because this garbage can be use as fertilizer for our plants. We can also organize a group in campaigning to save the environment and to discuss to the people the importance of the environment, so that they will be able to realize. We can also plant trees in our houses and especially in forest, we should also discourage deforestation. Because it is the one reason why floods are happening today.

It is also the responsible of human being to clean the surrounding and not throwing the garbage in the river. Because it can kill the fish and if it will be polluted our source of drinking will be affected. As of now we are experiencing lots of problems. Human beings must be sensitive to this situation; they must be minimizing the use of jeepney. We can do it if all the people will be cooperating and give importance to the cleanliness.
