As we all know, that Earth is the only place in these entire universe where people and different organisms is able to live, Its structure, shape and appearance is perfectly made for us to nurture, enhance and keep safe. As what I had seen on one advertisement on the television. It says “It is not What we inherited from our ancestor but it is what we pass on to our children” Simple phrase yet so meaningful. But the question is. Do we really know its importance and how it affects our lives.

When people are asked, how to take care of our environment or how to save our only home, the Earth. We people, inhabitants will definitely answer...There should be no pollution, no deforestation, no global warming. But do we really mean these words? Even though we know its importance, we still don't realize how it affects our lives.

The government and the private sectors are doing all they can to advocate us on how to save our planet earth from these detrimental. Sign boards, seminars and outreach programs, we have seen these, we have heard these... but despite the fact, most of us are still practicing it. We need change , we can never help save our planet unless we know within ourselves that change starts from us. If we try to work it out and show them what saving means. Then soon they will realize its importance and how saving our only home will benefit from it.
