

WORLD PEACE

By: Ulong, Rujiya N.

BSParmacy-1

School Allied Medicine

Universidad de Zamboanga

Zamboanga City, Philippines

I wonder to myself, how long is it going to be before this world unites to change the world for a good. I also wonder, the opposite, how long or how many attempts will it take before this world is ruined because of hatred, terror and everything representing badness. When we rise in the morning and listen to the radio or read the newspaper, we are confronted with the same sad news, crime, violence and disaster. I cannot recall a single day without a report of something terrible happening somewhere. We can no longer ignore that people are the real reason this world is where it is now.

Science and technology have worked wonders in many fields, but the basic human problem remain. I'm not all against science and technology. They have contributed immensely to the overall experience of humankind. But if we give too much emphasis to science and technology, we are in danger of losing touch with those aspects of human knowledge and understanding that aspire toward honesty and altruism. Although the term WORLD PEACE is an ideal of freedom, peace and happiness, this term is sometimes used to refer to a cessation of all hostility among all individuals. World peace more commonly refers to a permanent end to global and regional war with future conflicts resolved through non-violent reactions.