Everyone wants peace in this world. No one wants to hurt an enemy whom we are at war. But then we need to respect and love each other, understand each other and have unity. Without love and respect, we will not have peace in this world especially in our selves.

God loves us and does not want us to hate other people. If we do not have peace in our heart and mind, then we will not find peace. It should be love and respect especially among other cultures and countries.
