World peace is what every human being want. The word “Peace” has been forgotten by some country or some leader of a country. Peace is important and it is one kind of love that we can give to everyone, it’s not a material thing that has a big value but it is one thing that we should not lose. We must be united in order for us to achieve and acquire the most important thing which is “Peace”.

The world was created big for us to understand the essence of Peace and love. Even though every country have different language, culture, tradition and religion it is still easy for everyone to make friends if we communicate in a nice way, there’s no hard for us to give and take love and peace with other people.
