

WORLD PEACE

By: Jennerose D. Dela Cruz

Bachelor of Science in Medical Technology

School of Allied Medicine

Universidad De Zamboanga

Zamboanga City, Philippines

I am so aware of what's going on in the world and outside our own door; it's like a breath of fresh air when it comes from someone of some age. Although I can't save the world, I try to be a peace keeper by being there for someone that other kids don't socialize with. Being there for a friend in trouble, we can do it in small ways, also letting staff know of any teen that seems to be suicidal or talks of hurting any student, or teacher on staff.

Someday maybe I will grow up to help people in social work, counseling or something. It sounds like I have the heart and passion to do this kind of career. If you help a hand full of people turn their lives around, wouldn't all be worth it.

We need to promote peace in order our world can be safe and no need for justice. In this manner and process we can adjust our lives in different ways. We need to value more things and be more responsible in times of hardship for us to promote peace and harmony in our lives. If everyone can imagine this thought in early age we don't to get involved in any wars, we don't need to engage in any troubles.

Teaching and promoting peace is never enough. We as individuals, in our own little way can be peacemakers. Practicing what we preach and doing well even if others are not, taking no revenge. Above all, spreading the gospel which is the vital element that we must put to forward to.

In order to make a difference, the first step is you need to make peace and develop peace on yourself to develop and promote peace on earth. As an individual we can establish peace on our lives and make some difference to secure peace and development of our entire humanity. Being one of these individual and joining this kind of individuals we shall reach for our own needs and be part of this so called PROMOTING PEACE.