It is in every student and child that they are merely just a single dot in this vast populated world that, whatever they do it won't have the Mother Earth for their good deeds are nothing compared to billions of selfish vain deeds that the other do. It is common to lose hope with such point of view, but hey, you are maybe forgetting that you are not alone. It is not only you who observed the pain that our Mother Earth is going through. It is not only you who deeply and eagerly wanted to help her and it is not only you who visualized the horrific future of our world. We might notice people who don't care at all such topic. But, do they really have the knowledge about the condition of our environment? They are many people walking in the park, malls, and streets having their wonderful time yet, what do they do? They spit everywhere, some just throw garbage everywhere they like and give no effort at all to put it properly in the garbage. Yes, they just have lack of knowledge which leads them to blindness about how single good/bad deed does really matter a lot.

As a student what can I do? You might ask. It is not enough to let ourselves be just informed about this. What would be the use of knowledge if we don't use it/ apply them? In school, there are programs and organizations that stand for such reason, "to save Mother Earth". And as a student, we can participate and involve to such and somehow we can be proud and relief that we did something for our environment. Such actions are not worthless, believe me. For as you and not only as a student but also as a sister/brother, daughter/son, neighbour, friend, citizen and in every way you are. You can disseminate and share your knowledge. We don't have to be ashamed or timid in times like this, especially in the current situation of our Mother Earth, we need to stand up!
