Peace Development? Yes We Can!

Peace in this earthly life seems elusive. It is due to our distinct cultures and beliefs in this earth, which oppose each other. Life in this hostile and unforgiving society is hard to endure, but, we should be zealous in doing good. Can we attain a peace that will last forever? What is the primary answer in fulfilling this burdensome task?

We can attain peace in this world through promoting a society of openness and co-operation. A society of openness encourages its people to speak out their problems and concerns in the social, political, and economic issues of the community. It also promotes mutual talks between sectors that have dispute with each other. A community of co-operation encourages its members to work with each other. It encourages its people to work for the welfare of every citizen of the community and the world. A world of co-operation must have in its core the slogan "From each according to his ability, to each according to his need".

Two of the answers in developing peace is stated above, but, the most powerful answer to the issue is a great and true love. Love is not selfish and self serving and it is written above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfectness (Colossians 3:14). If only people follow this golden rule we can be able to establish a perfect peaceful society.

Developing peace is really a hard task. But, if all of us will be part of the answer and we put love in our heart it is not impossible to attain a long lasting peace. We should help in building this goal. If we are together, yes we can!
