Societies are made of human. It is important to set up rules of behavior within these societies so people treat their fellow human beings equally. These are commonly called human rights. If everyone abides them then major, disastrous events such as the first and Second World War can be prevented from or applies them then terrible event can and will happen what should the basic rights of every human be? I believe every human should have the rights to the following things: The right to life and the right to trailed fairly whatever race you are; the right to have your own beliefs and religions; the rights to free speech had different beliefs. This is uncivilized and not we would want our society to be, but it happen in places in the world. In Nazi Germany, the Jews were discriminated against because o f their belief and one by one all of the above human rights were removed culminating with the death of millions of Jews in the holocaust. This began in a small way with the removal of the right to be treated fairly and rapidly in the removal of the right of life. Although such acts of genocide as happened in Nazi Germany and Rwanda fill us with horror at the time thousands of people were included in these crime. May this serve as lesson that future generation may consider vital before making decision.
