Peace and development in our country is very important. Peace is a state of freedom from being war and hostility. It is also a sign of respect to everyone. We should have peace in our soul, because each one of us has different culture, religion and tribes. We must respect what other opinion and ideas, because that's the only way of showing respect. Then, if we have peace in our country there is a development. And many people will have a good job and well-respected. One of the example are the terrorist in our country, the government must have a good plan to them. As of now, many terrorist had abuse the innocent people. The peace and development in our country are not achieved yet.

Peace in one of the most important thing in this world, it is one of the people dreams. Without this, people can't understand each other and surely everyday there will be a war. Why? It is because they don't have peace of mind. Like our country, it is not really on the state of peace especially in Mindanao, we always heard from the radio or seen on the television or newspaper that there is a kidnapping, hold upping and etc. Do you think that they possessed the peace in them? Isn't it? No! They are just thinking for their self and not for our country. Still remember the Maguindanao massacre last November 23, 2009? A very tragic incidence that happened on Maguindanao, a lot of people died because of the politics only, they don't have cooperation with each other, ampatuan wants that they will reign in their place, and because of their power, they were able to do this massacre. They are so selfish. Last November 23, 2010, they celebrated the anniversary of the massacre but still justice has not prevailed. I'm just hoping that there will be a development in our country.

All people want peace, peace of minds, and peace in all people around them. If you talk about peace it means that state of calm and quiet and absence of war. It means that peace should start first in ourselves, next to our families, our homes and neighbors. How can we attain peace and development if the politicians or the government always arguing, and another are the accidents happening in our country. For example is the maguindanao massacre that almost died is innocent people and until now there are hoping for their justice. It almost affects all the people there. We should love each other, accept your defeat and also respect what people wants so that there will be no trouble. We should love each other because we are one nation and we are the one who can help develop are country.

I hope we can achieve peace in our country by fulfilling the duties of the government, be honest in their works, and also for the people we should also do our duties that are task to do for example is paying taxes, sharing your opinions who know it can help. By doing those things we can help our country develop. And I hope all the people look for a good job so that they can support their families. And I hope they can change their bad behavior or doings because not only them suffers, but also other people.

Peace and development is hard to attain but it would be easy to achieve if the people will only cooperate. Peace and development always goes hand in hand. When there is peace, there would be a development in country. Peace in our country is not really practiced because, as I observed when every time I watch news, almost every day there are people being killed, abused and etc., even an innocent child. Aside from these, some people were using their position and power to kill their enemies or opponents just like what happened to the Maguindanao Massacre where in many innocents people were killed. The fact that they have the power to develop our country instead, they're using it to do evil things.

In order to attain peace and development, it must begin within all of us. We should not hesitate to help in developing the peace and order in our country and not just rely everything to the authorities or to the government. We must also contribute in maintaining the beauty of our country just like helping cleaning the surroundings, throwing our waste materials in right place. Maybe others will think that it's just a simple thing but with that simple thing that we can do, it would be a big help not just for our country but for the environment also.

Our society now is experiencing some issues regarding the development of our nation. But how can we have a well-developing nation when in our own selves, we cannot establish peace? Peace is merely one thing which gives us development. In these past few days, we all looked back to what had happened during the Maguindanao massacre. It's been a year but still many are longing for justice. How can we say that there's peace in us when all this immoral acts and criminal injustices are happening around us? Why are these things happening? It is because of politics, some are too bad just to attain their personal desires, like the power to reign and gain lots of money. And the most painful thing in here is that many innocent beings were involved in this tragedy. Another thing is the terrorism – bombing, terrorist's attacks, etc. These are threats to us people, which makes us and our nation somehow alarming. Theft, car napping, hold-upping, kidnapping, hostage taking are also some of the reasons why are our country is not developing. It's not only in our country, but also in the whole world, and or between two countries. Like what happened months ago between our country and Hongkong when a hostage taking occurs. But the very issue today is the occurring war between the south and North Korea.

Of course, many are affected. A nation has no development when there's an absence of peace, generally, it won't improve. Why don't we find ways to develop our country and act for it, instead of doing troubles? Besides, we are just as one nation. Let's all work together, we should not just sit and watch and wait for the time to be over. There's something we can do even just in our own little ways. That is why to promote peace, it must start within us.

Peace is a state of freedom from war or hostility. Which means that if we have a peace in own self, there is a tendency that we can socialize to others? Development means the act of developing or bringing to a completed state. For instance in our society if we have peace and development in our society, everybody are leaving in a harmony. We can unite to each other. We can improve our environment by just helping to each other.

Peace is very important to us because, having peace in ourselves will make us feel better and leave our life effectively and enjoyable.

In our country today we really asking for a change from our newly government which we are expecting our country to have peace and development. Almost every day we heard from the news about the crime committed by the Filipino, like one year ago we noticed from the television about the massacre happened in Maguindanao committed by their local government. The victim of this massacre is the people who are staying in the Maguindanao which some victims are innocent. But still justice never accomplish by them until today because of inactive government. Some Filipino is shouting for peace and development of the country but how can it be happened when the government is so inactive to react about the situation happening in the country. Filipinos do not know how to unite themselves for the good of their country. We are expecting the government to do something for the improvement of our country. Peace and development will surely happened if the government will star and be a true instrument for every Filipino's sake.

Peace and development are very important to our country and even in other country. If there's peace, there's no war. Peace in religion, we need to respect other religion so that they will respect us. Peace is only way to development our country, to live without worrying that people will hurt us. Rally helps us especially in our economy and industry. How can we live and continue life without peace? So let us always think that peace is the only way to live life happily.

For me, "peace" is the absence of conflict and violence. Peace regards to be positive in human life. It is the presence of love, harmony, solidarity, cooperation and also peace within. Being peaceful in ourselves would be the greatest solution to commit peace in the community and in the world.

Nowadays, we do not experience peace because many of us-people are abusing and destroying rules and regulations. Man making violence for their own good, especially those people who are in throne, or shall I say, who are engaging in politics. They are the one who started discrimination. After the mistakes that they have done, they will point their mistakes and sins to innocent people and will be punished.

Peace must start within, we can make things freely, we can make things easy without stepping on others right and we must know how to become humble, silent, competitive, creative, and must possess initiative. If you commit peace in yourselves, you can share things to the whole world that wars, revenge and pride is not the best solution to maintain peace in the world.

What is peace? How can we achieve peace? How do we start peace? How can we develop peace? For me peace is the absence of war and the happiness of one another. We must start peace in each one of us, in order for us to achieve it. We cannot deny the fact that Filipino people want peace.

One example of lack of peace here in our country is having a war in Mindanao where many innocent people died. Last year, we have been shocked by the murderous incident in Maguindanao. In that massacre issue, peace is being lured by many crimes. Maguindanao massacre phenomenon was affected by tourism attraction because they thought that there is no peace in the Philippines.

Other situation that peace is being lost is in the case of bus hostage were Mendoza hostage Hongkong nationals. In order for us to develop peace, we must start praying to God and love each other.

Peace and development I choose because peace is very important to all if no peace there will be missed communication and big problems or arguments peace and developments is so good to all people or other nations, to be peacefully and harmony and even no wars between the countries to live people happily or the nations to be not harm each countries or the nations the peace is to develop the living harmony peace and developments is the aims to improve the necessary not having destructions or even wars problems and increasing fulfillment through cooperation and the cultural peace and spirituality and sharing each other's messages and to talk the problems of peace and development is research deals with the connections between peace and developments as well as those between poverty conflict.

First of all what is peace and development? Simply means of peace an absence of war. Probably it's right but for some that definition alone is not enough a deeper explanation of such is needed. Peace is start from one of us and only things that connect us. No matter what race, religion or nationality we are we still accept and understand them but before attaining that, we have to begin peace with each one of us.

If there is peace there is also development because development starts from peace. Development means to grow or evolve to a more complete, complex or desirable state so we can say that particular country is developing if it has a law, justice, freedom, love, equality and peace.

We can make our country peace and develop for just simple things. Like respect others, unity, cooperation, helping one another, understand them or just saying a simple word "sorry". Love your country, proud of what you are.

If we have all of this there will be a better future for our country and there will be no people suffering and we cannot experience scarcity.

First of all a people must have a peace to one another so that we would be able to get a development from our country. Peace start from first our family because the love, respect, glory to almighty god, our attitudes and everything onto us are all start from our family and if family pray together they will stay together. Secondly is in our barangays because if we have peace on each other or onto our neighbors then each and everyone of them are helping to each other we must be friendly, appreciate the suggestions of others and so for that kind of friendship there is a development from the barangays and lastly from our country .

Peace is the first step to have a development on our country and unto each and every one of us. There is a unity and willing to help one another. From all of this happen in our life we must be thanking Allah our god.

Peace must begin with each one of us, in our inner self and a peaceful mind, we must have a good heart can understand each other differences though its sometimes hurt but then we should talk in a nice way and not go into hostile act so that peace can always achieve and remains in our heart and environment can be peaceful always and everyone live happily and comfortably with each other. Through quite and serious reflection on its meaning, new and creative way can be found understanding, friendship and cooperation among people.

Peace is very important to us and also in the other country. We must have peace so that there will be no war and have peace a peaceful world. And also we need to help each other and cooperate so that it can continue to meet future and present needs. The peace starts from within each individual cause when they shared it with other groups and culture it can lead to peace.

Peace has an atmosphere of freedom and universal respect all cultures in their diversity. We need also through proper understanding between people of different nation and communities.
