Many references describe Peace as a society or relationship that is operating harmoniously, or a state without violent conflicts. It is defined as the absence of hostility or the existences of healthy or newly healed interpersonal or international relationship, safety in matter of social or economic welfare, the acknowledgement of equality and fairness in political relationships in international relations. Some define peacetime as the absence any war or conflict.

It is evident in some part of the world especially in first world country where economy is sustainable. In my country, it can be seen in some part but not in most places. From the government down to the people in the street, conflict is a common thing. It is but everybody's desire that peace will be something that we can enjoy today and tomorrow. May Peace reign in every hearts of the Filipinos for a better Philippines.
