

WORLD PEACE

Hector Victor G. Perez
School of Allied Medicine
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

World peace is important, not only to me, and to you but to all the people who's living in the whole wide universe, world peace is essential because this is one of our almighty god rules. And if there's peace there's love. But in reality there are some countries that did not experience world peace, just like in Islamic countries, until now there were some of them are still in war. And if there's war, there's no peace. So, to be able for us to have world peace we must learned how to love one another, and if we already learned how to love one another, automatically there will be now world peace. Love and peace is the most important and valuable things to us because with this powerful instruments. All of us will be having world peace. Our God taught us how to love, and we must teach this to the next generation because if there's love there's peace. And this peace that we are experienced in our self we can share it to the world so there will be World Peace.