

The Right for the Animals

Loliedee C. Ronamo

College of Information Technology and Technical Education
Universidad de Zamboanga
Zamboanga City, Philippines

This is for the right of animals wherein the most basic interests of non-human animals should be afforded the same consideration as the similar interests of human beings. Because we all know that each animal has their own different ways of thinking like human. Animals know how to find ways on how they're going to survive each day. As we can see animals have a great respect with their master, like for example the dog, if we are going to treat them the way we treat other people you can see that dogs are willing to help you at the time of tragic. Like for example in the news we see that there is a dog asking for the rescue with his master because it is in danger. So, animals are like human. They have right to love, to show respect and to care.