The wrong war, in the wrong place, at the wrong time, with the wrong enemy.

As a student, I'm just wondering to those people who always think of their selves. They always want to let them see who they really are. I am referring to countries whom they see their selves as powerful as God. What I mean is that why are we going to spend billions on such things that would only be the start of war. That would symbolize selfishness, greed, fighting, killing, fear, destruction and hatred to human race.

People are fighting each other. We had a dream yesterday we do it today for tomorrow's dream will soon to come true. We must stop hatred and start loving; we must stop selfishness and start giving. And think of a brighter future not only to this generation but also for the next generation to come. As God created the world to be enjoyed to everybody but not with the few. Being part of this generation, i want to end this already. But how? I guess it's through faith. Prayers can do a lot of things.
